

Taxation statistics 2009–10

Table 25: Personal tax

Pre-filling statistics, 2008–09 and 2009–10 income years

Part F: Private Health Insurance policy details available for pre-filling

Taxation statistics 2009–10

Table 25: Personal tax

Pre-filling statistics, 2008–09 and 2009–10 income years

Part F: Private Health Insurance policy details available for pre-filling

Note:

Private health insurance policy details will be displayed as reported by health funds. This information assists in determining whether a person is exempt from paying the Medicare levy surcharge. The reported information consists of:

- * Health insurer name and ID
- * Membership number
- * Period of cover
- * Type of cover
- * Highest level of excess.

Health funds also provide information about whether the policy contributor is entitled to an amount of refundable tax offset not previously claimed by way of reduced private health insurance premiums (item T5 label G).

Private health insurance data was not available in 2008 or earlier income years. This information was available for pre-filling from 2009 as part of the expansion of the pre-filling service.

Medicare benefit tax statements are made available via the pre-filling service directly from Medicare Australia to assist in determining eligibility for, and calculating the amount of, the medical expenses tax offset. Taxpayers must provide their Medicare number to access this information. As the Medicare benefit tax statements are provided by Medicare Australia via a direct link in the pre-filling service, we do not store these records on our systems and therefore we do not have information about this data availability.